MEXICAN CLASHES HAVE DEATH TOLL OF 91

FEDERALS AND INSURGENTS IN BATTLES

REVOLTS AND DISORDERS OCCURRED IN LAST TWO WEEKS

GENERAL ALVAREZ, CHIEF OF STAFF, REPORTS TO PRESIDENT CALLES

By A. W. FOLGER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Mexico City, Jan. 12.—Ninety-one combatants, including 73 insurgents, have been killed in a succession of clashes between federal troops and insurgents growing out of revolts and disorders during the past two weeks, General Jose Alvarez, chief of staff to President Calles, has announced.

Despite increasing reports that revolutionary activities are spreading in volume and intensity throughout militant Mexican states, General Alvarez today maintained that the government was well able to cope with the situation.

Eighteen federal soldiers lost their lives in the engagements, the general said. He blamed the uprisings, which were said to be without definite and centralized leadership, to opposition to religious laws, the casual basis of the conflict between the Catholic church and the Calles government.

The governmental confirmation of the killings, coupled with reports of armed Catholic revolts in three Mexican states, indicated in many quarters that the religious situation has reached its most serious crisis since the promulgation of the governmental religious laws last July.

General Alvarez listed the following losses on both sides:

Near Cerro Les Brujas, 5 insurgents, 9 federals; near Zapata, 15 insurgents; Mesquite, Durango, 9 insurgents, 6 federals; Leon, 13 insurgents, 1 federal; Asaseo Enahio, 23 insurgents, 1 federal; Colotla, Jalisco, 5 insurgents, 1 federal.

While ignoring the arrest and reported expulsion from the country of Bishop Pasqual Diaz, spokesman for the Catholic episcopate, Alvarez laid the blame for the smoldering unrest to the episcopate.

"Clerical elements, directed from the capital by the Mexican episcopate, having a knowledge that in these days our international relations would suffer during the crisis or would be altered in an unfavorable manner, and not wanting to waste an opportunity to show that they continue to be traitors to their country as they have always been, have received instructions to rebel," Alvarez's communique said. "They are ordered to do so with the largest number of men under the cry of 'Long Live Christ, Our King!'"

Reports of sporadic clashes between rebels and federals continued to reach the capital from the states of Michoacan, Jalisco and Durango, but officials believed most of the fighting was caused by isolated bands of insurgents, who lack cohesive effort.

Mexican officialdom, supported by the general's statement, felt that sufficient steps had been taken to prevent the consolidation of the scattered bands.

Revolutionary activities, thus far confirmed, were reported operating on a large scale in the state of Durango and official state records were said to have been moved to Torreón, in the state of Coahuila.

Railway officials have also reported a suspension of traffic between Guadalajara, state of Adalajara and Atotonilco, state of Hidalgo, because of the burning of bridges.

Meanwhile, the whereabouts of Bishop Diaz, who was reported en route to Havana after the governmental order for his deportation, was still a mystery.

Religious workers, who claimed to have been informed, said he had reached Vera Cruz and would proceed at once to Havana.

Mexico City, Jan. 12.—A group of bandits, said to number 600, who have been operating extensively in the state of Jalisco, have attacked the town of Arandas, and burned the city hall, according to advices received today from Guadalajara.

Municipal authorities, who were in the city hall when the attack occurred, narrowly escaped capture by fleeing with the official documents. According to dispatches, one priest was in the attacking party.

The town of Arandas is normally without garrison. Late dispatches said that federal troops from neigh-

OUR DAILY QUAKE REPORT—AT MANILA, P. I.

LAY GROUND WORK FOR FIGHT ANTI-EVOLUTION

INTERNATIONAL THEISTIC SOCIETY OF AMERICA BUSY IN STATE

NAMES COMMITTEES TO ENTER LEGISLATIVE CAMPAIGN

St. Paul, Jan. 12.—(UP)—The International Theistic Society of America today had the groundwork laid for the fight against anti-evolution legislation in Minnesota.

Committees on publicity, finance and legislation were organized and instructed Tuesday night in the work of the society against forces led by the Rev. W. B. Riley, president of Christian Fundamentalists Society who seek to ban teaching of the evolutionary theory in the schools of the state.

Dr. Arvid Reuter Dahl, director general of the Theistic Society, warned the committees against ingenuinely used by anti-evolutionists in concealing real issues of the campaign.

NORTHWEST FARMERS TO SHIP MORE GRAIN

St. Paul, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Northwest farmers will ship about 25 per cent more grain in the first half of 1927 than was shipped in the same period last year, according to a report of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroad officials released Tuesday.

The farmers, according to the railroad estimates, had almost twice as much grain stored on Jan. 1, 1927 than on Jan. 1, 1926.

About 54,185,337 bushels of grain, valued at $80,000,000, are expected to be shipped in the first six months of this year. In 1926 41,916,296 bushels were transported from the northwest, according to the report.

boring towns were in pursuit of the rebels.

Mexico City, Jan. 12.—Further rebellious depredations and acts of banditry were reported today in various parts of the republic, indicating that other names would soon be added to the list of 91 killed in such disorders which has just been made public by the government.

Federal troops today were in control of the villages of Arandas, Tototlan and Cocula, which rebels held momentarily after attack upon those defenseless communities. It was reported that the federals had killed several persons and had taken many prisoners in the recaptures.

Bands of rebels at Tequila, between Arenal and Amatitlan, burned bridges of the Southern Pacific railroad and committed other depredations until the appearance of federal troops when they fled.

Mexico City, Jan. 12.—Mexico today awaited the reply of the United States to Foreign Minister Saenz's denial of President Coolidge's charges that Mexico had interfered in Nicaraguan affairs.

His statement, conciliatory in tone and blaming foes of the Mexican government for the critical relations between the two countries, was the first official response here to Mr. Coolidge's message to congress.

Mexican newspapers have contained no comment on the situation.

Charging that "hostile elements to the Mexican government are trying to create a serious antagonism between both countries," Senor Saenz said his country intended to violate no legitimately acquired rights.

The next move, therefore, it was felt here, must come from Washington.

COFFEE DRINKER'S WORLD RECORD, DRANK 85 CUPS

GUST COMSTOCK OF FERGUS FALLS RETAINS CHAMPIONSHIP

HARDENED CAMPAIGNER SINCE HE WENT ON HIS FIRST COFFEE JAG

Fergus Falls, Minn., Jan. 12.—(UP)—No sedatives were necessary to put Gust Comstock to sleep Tuesday night and no physicians to awaken him today although he established a new world's record by drinking 85 cups of coffee in seven hours and ten minutes elapsed time.

Gust has become a hardened campaigner since he went on his first coffee jag two years ago. An abnormal consumption of the brew only causes a slight restlessness around bedtime.

So it was Tuesday night. He tossed around awhile before sleep claimed him, but that, he explained today, was due to the excitement.

At his usual hour, Gust rolled out from the covers and went down to the barber shop to tidy up the pace. He is a porter in his spare time. While wielding a broom, he discussed his pros and cons of coffee drinking.

"Every man should have his specialty," he observed philosophically. "I picked coffee drinking for mine. It has been my ambition to be the best coffee drinker in the world, and if those 85 cups I drank Tuesday don't retain the honor, I'm ready to make it an even hundred. I come of a long line of coffee drinkers and it is my life work."

"My coffee recipe? I have no recipe. Whatever a restaurant brews—that's what I want. Of course, it shouldn't be too hot. And I prefer a blend of Mocha and Java without chicory. But I'm not particular about cream."

Gust is unmarried.

"Well, I may take a wife some day," he observed. "I've got time—I'm only 28 now."

"My wife must have one quality above all others. She must know how to brew coffee in the restaurant manner. If she makes it just the right strength, she'll have no difficulty making me happy."

"Yes, any time those Texans think they can go one better, they can hop to it. I haven't reached my capacity and I love competition."

Comstock's coffee drinking history:

Armistice day, 1924: Fifty-six cups downed in his first contest, sponsored by Hibbing American Legion. This was official.

Armistice day, 1926: Record raised to 62 in Fergus Falls, but since no official timers checked him, no well regulated coffee drinking commission would let it stand.

A few weeks later, H. A. Streety, of Amarillo, Tex., won a contest to which Gust was not invited by swallowing 71 cups. Perry Wilson disposed of 70 in the same contest. This inspired Gust to set a new record for speed and distance Tuesday.

"As I said before," Gust concluded his interview, "a man should learn to do one thing and stick to it. That's what I have done and it has made me what I am today."

ANOTHER COLD WAVE REPORTED FROM THE NORTH

St. Paul, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Another cold wave was reported bearing down from the north today and the weather man warned the northwest to be prepared for sub-zero weather.

The chill weather struck Winnipeg this morning, pushing the mercury down to 14 degrees below zero. Moorhead was already touched by the advance guard of the wave and reported two degrees below zero.

The Twin Cities, however, enjoyed almost balmy weather at 8 o'clock when thermometers registered 22 degrees above.

21 Players Charged With Graft Found Not Guilty Today

By CLARK B. KELSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Jan. 12.—Twenty-one baseball players accused of graft in connection with a series of games between Chicago and Detroit in 1917 were found not guilty today by Judge K. M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball.

Judge Landis' decision, handed out after refusal of consideration of evidence presented by the two accusing ball players, Charles "Swede" Risberg and Arnold "Chick" Gandil, and some 31 other players who denied the charges, was given out in his office as promised shortly before 10 A. M. today.

"It is the finding of the commissioner," Judge Landis' report said, "that the fund raised by the Chicago players about Sept. 28, 1917, was not collected or paid to the Detroit players for 'sloughing' to Chicago the games of Sept. 2 and 3, 1917, but was paid because of Detroit's beating Boston; that there was no 'sloughing' of the Sept. 2 and 3 games in 1917, nor of the Sept. 26, 27 and 28 games in 1919, except possibly by Risberg and Gandil."

The judge's decision indicated that he took the word of such ball players as Eddie Collins, Ray Schalk and Donie Bush as against that of Risberg and Gandil, who were ousted from baseball after alleged throwing of the 1919 world's series.

The testimony of Bill James, former Detroit pitcher, that he was paid the "pot" as a bonus for beating the Boston club and that he divided it among the battery men of the team, was taken as the decisive bit of evidence that the baseball stars accused were not guilty. James followed Gandil on the witness stand and denied all charges except that he had been paid money. James said the money was a reward for beating Boston.

Judge Landis' decision read in part as follows:

"On Jan. 1, 1927, Risberg appeared at the commissioner's office. He stated that the four games Detroit played at Chicago Sept. 2 and 3, 1917, had been 'sloughed'—(that is, thrown)—by Detroit to Chicago; that the Chicago team had paid

COLLEGE HEAD TALKS TO TRI-STATE FARM CONGRESS

SAYS FARMERS NEED EFFICIENCY IN CROP PRODUCTION

ORGANIZATION TO CONTROL THE PRODUCTION AND MARKETING OF CROPS

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 12.—(UP)—Agriculture's future is as bright as that of any other industry, Dr. John Lee Coulter, president of the North Dakota agricultural college, told delegates to the Tri-State Farm Congress here today.

Farmers need efficiency in production, and organization to control production to market their products and to handle the surplus, Dr. Coulter, who is president of the organization, said. Some federal and state legislation and introduction into the business of the same efficient management and principles of large scale production as are used in industry, will assist the farmers in securing a greater relative proportion of the national income, Dr. Coulter declared.

Creation of a federal marketing commission working under a plan similar to that of our national banks or the system of federal land banks and the rural credit associations and joint stock land banks, was suggested as national legislation needed by farming. This commission, according to Dr. Coulter's plan, would have power to divide the nation into provinces.

TWO RECEIVERS TAKE CHARGE OF CHAPLIN FORTUNE

PENDING THE OUTCOME OF THE COMEDIAN'S MARITAL TROUBLES

COUNSEL FOR WIFE, FORMER LITA GRAY, STARTS PROCEEDINGS

By DAN CAMPBELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 12.—With the famous screen comedian variously reported as on his way to Paris, in New York and in hiding in Los Angeles, two receivers today prepared to take charge of Charlie Chaplin's $16,000,000 of property and assets, pending outcome of his wife's suit for divorce.

Demand for appointment of the receivers was granted late Tuesday after counsel for Mrs. Chaplin, the former Lita Gray, declared they believed Chaplin had left Los Angeles forever.

W. I. Gilbert, chief defense attorney in the recent Albee Semple McPherson case, and Herman Spitzel, real estate dealer, were named receivers. Bond for each was set at $200,000.

Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 12.—The bulk of Charlie Chaplin's millions was tied up by court order today, pending trial of the divorce complaint of the 18-year-old former Lita Gray.

W. I. Gilbert, attorney who defended Albee Semple McPherson, and Herman Spitzel, real estate operator, were appointed receivers and will handle the immense fortune, valued at more than $70,000,000, until a court decides its disposition.

Mrs. Chaplin, it was learned today, will demand 50 per cent of the community property.

GIRL WIFE HAS CORPS OF 6 LAWYERS

Los Angeles, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Charlie Chaplin's entire estate, valued at more than $10,000,000 may be awarded to his girl-wife in event she is successful in her divorce suit and the court so decides, it was asserted today by L. R. Brigham, one of six attorneys representing Mrs. Chaplin.

Under California law a divorced wife is entitled to one-half of the community property that has accrued after the marriage, but in the Chaplin case, according to Brigham, another issue may prove an important factor.

"If the judge decides," said Brigham, "that there has been adultery in the Chaplin case, he may award Mrs. Chaplin 100 per cent of the property for the maintenance of herself and her two children."

3 BOATS GROUND

WHILE TRYING TO ASSIST ANOTHER

Newport, R. I., Jan. 12.—(UP)—Three government boats, with a total of 18 men aboard, went aground in Narragansett Bay today while trying to assist the freighter Pomham, which grounded during yesterday's blizzard.

The Pomham, with 13 men aboard, was still high and dry on Rose Island ledge, making a total of four boats aground in the bay.

In rapid succession, the naval tug Triton, the steam lighter Larjo, and the range boat 526, went aground on Rose Island ledge while trying to assist the Pomham. All three boats are attached to the United States naval torpedo station here.

While none of the grounded boats was thought to be in immediate danger, the heavy sea kicked up by yesterday's furious storm was still running this morning, and plans were being hurriedly made to save the stranded craft.

EXPOSED STREETS OF FOREIGN QUARTER IN SHANGHAI ARE BARRICADED

Shanghai, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Exposed streets in the neighborhood of the foreign quarters were barricaded today and labor trouble, in the form of an extensive strike of Chinese store employees, had begun.

The city was quiet and fears were somewhat assuaged by the arrival in port of the American admiral, Williams, with a United States cruiser and marines.

Nationalist troops from Canton, already controlling the province of Hupeh, steadily were strengthening their grip on the Yangtze valley.

Peking, Jan. 11.—Chinese soldiers have occupied the American missionary building at Foochow, according to word received here today from the United States consul.

The situation at Shaowu, 145 miles northwest of Foochow, is becoming critical, according to the consul, who said that the lives of all missionaries were in danger because of the activities of soldiers and bandits.

Instructions have been issued to all American missionaries in Foochow and Shaowu to be in readiness for instant evacuation, the consul reported.

300 U. S. MARINES SAVE NICARAGUAN TOWN FROM ATTACK

Managua, Nicaragua, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Timely arrival of 300 United States marines at Rama, on the Escondido river in the interior of Nicaragua, has saved the town from attack by liberal forces fighting to replace the conservative President Diaz by the liberal claimant Juan Sacasa.

The marines were dispatched from Bluefields, on the east coast.

A United States navy transport, a gunboat and several destroyers today comprised the American naval force at Bluefields. Reports from Rama said the population rejoiced at the appearance of the marines who were sent inland after President Diaz several times had reiterated his inability to defend the city from the liberals or to protect American interests, principally fruit companies, there.

Diaz's plea was emphasized a fortnight ago by the severe defeat suffered by his army at Laguna Las Perlas, on the east coast, where the liberals caught the conservatives short of ammunition and otherwise unprepared for attack. It was in this battle that 280, perhaps more, men were killed necessitating the dispatch of relief ships from Bluefields. After the Las Perlas battle, the liberals turned inland toward Rama.

American control of east coast territory had been extended today until the entire Atlantic coast of Nicaragua had been neutralized, in conformity with President Coolidge's desire that the liberal revolution be suppressed, with the exception of La Cruz and El Gallo.

AMERICAN ENTERING NEW ERA OF PROSPERITY, STATED

Minneapolis, Jan. 12.—(UP)—America is entering a new era of prosperity and business activity is at high tide, C. I. Buxton, secretary of the Minnesota Implement Dealers' Association, told delegates of the organization attending the twenty-third annual convention here.

"Factories are busy, labor is well employed and transportation was never so efficient," he said. "Most of the readjustment entailed by the deflation period is history, we are now entering a new era."

E. P. Lynch, Faribault, vice president of the National Federal of the Association, told the delegates that a 10 per cent increase in the volume of business would double the profits of the dealers and could be handled without additional cost.

The convention will end Thursday with election of officers.

FEDERALS AND INSURGENTS IN BATTLES

REVOLTS AND DISORDERS OCCURRED IN LAST TWO WEEKS

GENERAL ALVAREZ, CHIEF OF STAFF, REPORTS TO PRESIDENT CALLES

By A. W. FOLGER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Mexico City, Jan. 12.—Ninety-one combatants, including 73 insurgents, have been killed in a succession of clashes between federal troops and insurgents growing out of revolts and disorders during the past two weeks, General Jose Alvarez, chief of staff to President Calles, has announced.

Despite increasing reports that revolutionary activities are spreading in volume and intensity throughout militant Mexican states, General Alvarez today maintained that the government was well able to cope with the situation.

Eighteen federal soldiers lost their lives in the engagements, the general said. He blamed the uprisings, which were said to be without definite and centralized leadership, to opposition to religious laws, the casus belli of the conflict between the Catholic church and the Calles government.

The governmental confirmation of the killings, coupled with reports of armed Catholic revolts in three Mexican states, indicated in many quarters that the religious situation has reached its most serious crisis since the promulgation of the governmental religious laws last July.

General Alvarez listed the following losses on both sides:

Near Cerro Las Brujas, 5 insurgents; 9 federals; near Zapista, 15 insurgents; Mesquite, Durango, 9 insurgents; 6 federals; Leon, 13 insurgents; 1 federal; Asaseo Enahlo, 23 insurgents; 1 federal; Colotla, Jalisco, 5 insurgents; 1 federal.

While ignoring the arrest and reported expulsion from the country of Bishop Pasqual Diaz, spokesman for the Catholic episcopate, Alvarez laid the blame for the smoldering unrest to the episcopate.

"Clerical elements, directed from the capital by the Mexican episcopate, having a knowledge that in these days our international relations would suffer during the crisis or would be altered in an unfavorable manner, and not wanting to waste an opportunity to show that they continue to be traitors to their country as they have always been, have received instructions to rebel," Alvarez's communique said. NORTHWEST FARMERS TO SHIP MORE GRAIN

St. Paul, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Northwest farmers will ship about 25 per cent more grain in the first half of 1927 than was shipped in the same period last year, according to a report of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroad officials released Tuesday.

The farmers, according to the railroad estimates, had almost twice as much grain stored on Jan. 1, 1927 than on Jan. 1, 1926.

About 54,185,337 bushels of grain, valued at $80,000,000, are expected to be shipped in the first six months of this year. In 1926 41,916,296 bushels were transported from the northwest, according to the report.

21 Players Charged With Graft Found Not Guilty Today

By CLARK B. KELSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Jan. 12.—Twenty-one baseball players accused of graft in connection with a series of games between Chicago and Detroit in 1917 were found not guilty today by Judge K. M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball.

Judge Landis' decision, handed out after refusal of consideration of evidence presented by the two accusing ball players, Charles "Swede" Risberg and Arnold "Chick" Gandil, and some 31 other players who denied the charges, was given out in his office as promised shortly before 10 A. M. today.

"It is the finding of the commissioner," Judge Landis' report said, "that the fund raised by the Chicago players about Sept. 28, 1917, was not collected or paid to the Detroit players for 'sloughing' to Chicago the games of Sept. 2 and 3, 1917, but was paid because of Detroit's beating Boston; that there was no 'sloughing' of the Sept. 2 and 3 games in 1917, nor of the Sept. 26, 27 and 28 games in 1919, except possibly by Risberg and Gandil."

The judge's decision indicated that he took the word of such ball players as Eddie Collins, Ray Schalk and Donnie Bush as against that of Risberg and Gandil, who were ousted from baseball after alleged throwing of the 1919 world's series.

The testimony of Bill James, former Detroit pitcher, that he was paid the "pot" as a bonus for beating the Boston club and that he divided it among the battery men of the team, was taken as the decisive bit of evidence that the baseball stars accused were not guilty. James followed Gandil on the witness stand and denied all charges except that he had been paid money. James said the money was a reward for beating Boston.

Judge Landis' decision read in part as follows:

"On Jan. 1, 1927, Risberg appeared at the commissioner's office. He stated that the four games Detroit played at Chicago Sept. 2 and 3, 1917, had been 'sloughed'—(that is, thrown)—by Detroit to Chicago; that the Chicago team had paid money to Detroit players therefore; and that Chicago had 'sloughed' to Detroit two of the three-game series of Sept. 26, 27 and 28, 1919, in appreciation (but not for money consideration) of Detroit's 1917 'sloughing'."

"These charges were set for hearing on Jan. 5 and 7, 1927, and players of the 1917 and 1919 Chicago and Detroit teams were summoned to appear."

"At this hearing Risberg reiterated his charges and was supported by Chick Gandil."

"In opposition to the Risberg and Gandil charges was the testimony of Clarence Rowland, E. T. Collins, Ray Schalk, Owen Bush, Tyrus Cobb, George Daus, Oscar Stange, Howard Ehmke, Ben Dyer, Urban Faber, Richard Kerr, William Gleason, John Collins, Harry Leibold, Harry Heilmann, Edward Murphy, Joseph Benz, Robert Beach, Bernard Boland, Albert Russell, George Harper, George Weaver, George Cunningham, Dave Danforth, Ted Jourdan, George Burns, Bill James, Byrd Lynn, Roy Wilkinson, Robert Hasbrook and Oscar Vitt, that there had been no 'sloughing' whatever by either Detroit or Chicago, and that no money was contributed, paid or received by anybody for sloughing."

"The Chicago players other than Risberg and Gandil admitted the raising of a fund by Gandil and Risberg from the Chicago players at New York about Sept. 28, 1917, but stated that this money was solicited by Gandil and Risberg and contributed by them (the Chicago players) to be paid to Detroit pitchers in appreciation of, or as a reward for, their beating Boston three games, Sept. 20 and 21, 1917, Boston being Chicago's closest contender in the American League pennant race of 1917."

"If the Gandil-Risberg version be correct, it was an act of criminality. If the other version be true, it was an act of impropriety, reprehensible and censurable, but not corrupt."

Landis said he had thoroughly considered the conflicting testimony and could arrive at none but the decision that Risberg and Gandil were in error in their statements.

HEAT WAVES CAUSE DEATHS AT SYDNEY, N. S. W.

TWO RECEIVERS TAKE CHARGE OF CHAPLIN FORTUNE

PENDING THE OUTCOME OF THE COMEDIAN'S MARITAL TROUBLES

COUNSEL FOR WIFE, FORMER LITA GRAY, STARTS PROCEEDINGS

By DAN CAMPBELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 12.—With the famous screen comedian variously reported as on his way to Paris, in New York and in hiding in Los Angeles, two receivers today prepared to take charge of Charlie Chaplin's $16,000,000 of property and assets, pending outcome of his wife's suit for divorce.

Demand for appointment of the receivers was granted late Tuesday after counsel for Mrs. Chaplin, the former Lita Gray, declared they believed Chaplin had left Los Angeles forever.

W. I. Gilbert, chief defense attorney in the recent Aimee Semple McPherson case, and Herman Spitzel, real estate dealer, were named receivers. Bond for each was set at $200,000.

Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 12.—The bulk of Charlie Chaplin's millions was tied up by court order today, pending trial of the divorce complaint of the 18-year-old former Lita Gray.

W. I. Gilbert, attorney who defended Aimee Semple McPherson, and Herman Spitzel, real estate operator, were appointed receivers and will handle the immense fortune, valued at more than $70,000,000, until a court decides its disposition.

Mrs. Chaplin, it was learned today, will demand 50 per cent of the community property.

GIRL WIFE HAS CORPS OF 6 LAWYERS

Los Angeles, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Charlie Chaplin's entire estate, valued at more than $10,000,000 may be awarded to his girl-wife in event she is successful in her divorce suit and the court so decides, it was asserted today by L. R. Brigham, one of six attorneys representing Mrs. Chaplin.

Under California law a divorced wife is entitled to one-half of the community property that has accrued after the marriage, but in the Chaplin case, according to Brigham, another issue may prove an important factor.

"If the judge decides," said Brigham, "that there has been adultery in the Chaplin case, he may award Mrs. Chaplin 100 per cent of the property for the maintenance of herself and her two children."

3 BOATS GROUND WHILE TRYING TO ASSIST ANOTHER

Newport, R. I., Jan. 12.—(UP)—Three government boats, with a total of 18 men aboard, went aground in Narragansett Bay today while trying to assist the freighter Pomham, which grounded during yesterday's blizzard.

The Pomham, with 13 men aboard, was still high and dry on Rose Island ledge, making a total of four boats aground in the bay.

In rapid succession, the naval tug Triton, the steam lighter Larjo, and the range boat 526, went aground on Rose Island ledge while trying to assist the Pomham. All three boats are attached to the United States naval torpedo station here.

While none of the grounded boats was thought to be in immediate danger, the heavy sea kicked up by yesterday's furious storm was still running this morning, and plans were being hurriedly made to save the stranded craft.

U. S. CRUISER AND MARINES ARRIVE IN PORT

NATIONALIST TROOPS FROM CANTON GRIP YANGTZE VALLEY

Shanghai, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Exposed streets in the neighborhood of the foreign quarters were barricaded today and labor trouble, in the form of an extensive strike of Chinese store employees, had begun.

The city was quiet and fears were somewhat assuaged by the arrival in port of the American admiral, Williams, with a United States cruiser and marines.

Nationalist troops from Canton, already controlling the province of Hupeh, steadily were strengthening their grip on the Yangtze valley.

Peking, Jan. 11.—Chinese soldiers have occupied the American missionary building at Foochow, according to word received here today from the United States consul.

The situation at Shaowu, 145 miles northwest of Foochow, is becoming critical, according to the consul, who said that the lives of all missionaries were in danger because of the activities of soldiers and bandits.

Instructions have been issued to all American missionaries in Foochow and Shaowu to be in readiness for instant evacuation, the consul reported.

300 U. S. MARINES SAVE NICARAGUAN TOWN FROM ATTACK

Managua, Nicaragua, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Timely arrival of 300 United States marines at Rama, on the Escondido river in the interior of Nicaragua, has saved the town from attack by liberal forces fighting to replace the conservative President Diaz by the liberal claimant Juan Sacasa.

The marines were dispatched from Bluefields, on the east coast.

A United States navy transport, a gunboat and several destroyers today comprised the American naval force at Bluefields. Reports from Rama said the population rejoiced at the appearance of the marines who were sent inland after President Diaz several times had reiterated his inability to defend the city from the liberals or to protect American interests, principally fruit companies, there.

Diaz's plea was emphasized a fortnight ago by the severe defeat suffered by his army at Laguna Las Perlas, on the east coast, where the liberals caught the conservatives short of ammunition and otherwise unprepared for attack. It was in this battle that 280, perhaps more, men were killed necessitating the dispatch of relief ships from Bluefields. After the Las Perlas battle, the liberals turned inland toward Rama.

American control of east coast territory had been extended today until the entire Atlantic coast of Nicaragua had been neutralized, in conformity with President Coolidge's desire that the liberal revolution be suppressed, with the exception of La Cruz and El Gallo.

AMERICAN ENTERING NEW ERA OF PROSPERITY, STATED

Minneapolis, Jan. 12.—(UP)—America is entering a new era of prosperity and business activity is at high tide, C. I. Buxton, secretary of the Minnesota Implement Dealers' Association, told delegates of the organization attending the twenty-third annual convention here.

"Factories are busy, labor is well employed and transportation was never so efficient," he said. "Most of the readjustment entailed by the deflation period is history, we are now entering a new era."

E. P. Lynch, Faribault, vice president of the National Federal of the Association, told the delegates that a 10 per cent increase in the volume of business would double the profits of the dealers and could be handled without additional cost.

The convention will end Thursday with election of officers.

A Paige 6-45 Sedan For A Name

HERE is your opportunity to get this new 1927 Paige 6-45 Sedan. Nothing to buy; no obligation—just give us a name for our stores, as explained in the rules of this contest.

We are a member of the North West Buyers and Jobbers, Inc. There are 134 stores in Minnesota, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana and Wisconsin who form a co-operative association for the manufacturing and buying of men's clothing and furnishings. This gives us a tremendous buying power which saves our customers money.

These stores are owned wholly by people living in your own town and they have an interest in your community. You profit by the savings we give you in the merchandise you buy and by the development of your community, as the profits stay at home and help to build it up.

The name North West Buyers & Jobbers, Inc., is too long and we are looking for a better name.

It should bring out the idea that this is a locally owned store, or that it is one of a chain of co-operative buying stores, or the idea of a store which saves its customers money. It should be short, possibly two or three words, and it must be a name which is not now being used by other stores.

Fill in the coupon and bring it in soon. Someone will get this new Paige 6-45 Sedan and it may be you.

DEALER. Put date and time here.

RULES OF CONTEST

Coupons will be accepted beginning Saturday, January 8th.

Write plainly on the coupon one name only. Any number of names may be entered, but only one name will be accepted on each coupon.

The coupons should be deposited at the earliest possible date, as in case of two or more entering the same name the first one received will be the winner.

Coupons must be brought into the store from whose advertisement it was taken and no coupons will be accepted by mail. Saturday, January 29th, is the closing date and no coupons will be accepted after that date.

The Paige Sedan will be awarded February 15th. The judges for this contest are Mr. J. M. Riegel, Secretary and Treasurer Pioneer Press and Dispatch; Mr. C. E. Buckbee, President Buckbee-Mears Company; and Mr. Howard Kahn, Managing Editor Daily News—St. Paul.

Employees of this store will not be permitted to enter into this contest.

PRECAUTIONS

FOR SECRECY ARE INVOKED BY KELLOGG

By PAUL R. MALLON

United Press Staff Correspondent
Washington, Jan. 12.—Precautions for secrecy—reminiscent of war times—were invoked by Secretary of State Kellogg when he appeared before the senate foreign relations committee today in executive session to give the grounds for his Nicaraguan and Mexican policies.

While Democrats were assailing Kellogg's policy in the house foreign affairs committee, the secretary came before the senate committee behind closed doors and pledged members of the committee to secrecy regarding the evidence he offered. The usual senate stenographer was barred from the room and Kellogg's own personal stenographer took secret notes on the proceedings.

Kellogg, for two hours, read a prepared statement on policy, closely following the lines of President Coolidge's Monday message to congress in which the chief executive told of alleged Mexican munitions shipments to the Nicaraguan rebels.

Despite the secrecy injunction, the United Press learned reliably that Kellogg offered no additional proof concerning the Mexican shipments.

After reading his prepared paper, Kellogg remained on the stand, ready for cross-examination.

During presentation of his argument, Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, and others constantly interrupted Kellogg with requests for amplification of his statements and for additional proof of his contentions that Mexico was fostering the Nicaraguan liberal revolt.

Kellogg contended arms had been found in Nicaragua in possession of the liberals which bore marks indicating Mexican origin. He cited consular reports of vessels leaving Mexican ports ostensibly for a European nation, but which, he maintained, carried arms to Nicaragua.

Committee members questioned his proof in this instance, pointing out that the ships' clearance papers indicated commodities other than arms were being shipped. Kellogg answered that the bills of lading were incorrect and that other commodities were listed merely to conceal the fact that the ships carried arms.

Kellogg also traced the history of Nicaraguan relations from the beginning. He described in detail how this government had encouraged the signing of the five power Central American treaty under which all the sig-

Famous Tenor Has Never Taken a Singing Lesson

J. HAROLD MURRAY

Harold Murray Does Not Believe in Vocal Training

New York City.—J. Harold Murray, who plays the prince in the musical hit of Broadway, "Castles in the Air," and about whose singing voice columns of laudatory notices have been written, never had a singing lesson in his life.

"I don't believe in them," he insists. "The whole effort of a singer must be to feel what he sings. If you do that, you are sure to interpret the role properly. You don't have to have lessons to learn to talk, do you?"

"Singing, in the normal man or woman, should be as natural as talking. Of course, some people have better singing voices than others, but, after all, some people have better speaking voices than others."

"It is true that some roles are written for 'made' voices. These parts are often beautiful but always artificial. I like the songs that come out as naturally as bird music. 'Lantern of Love' in 'Castles in the Air' is an example of a beautiful natural song."

Mr. Murray was chosen over hundreds of contestants for the role of the prince. He did not tell the producers until later that he had never had a singing lesson. He was afraid it would horrify them. Later, they admitted it probably would have, but by the time they learned the startling fact, they were so pleased with his work they would never have let him go.

"I honestly believe," adds Mr. Murray, "that thousands of good voices have been ruined by over-training. Some voices are so good that nothing can hurt them. They are the ones that survive severe courses of instruction."

natories agreed to disregard governments who come into power by revolution. He defended American recognition of the Diaz regime.

After two hours Chairman Borah of the committee went to the senate floor to answer a quorum call. Declining to reveal what Kellogg was testifying or to comment upon it, Borah said the committee session would probably last two more hours and perhaps all afternoon.

Both Guesses Wrong

A mother and daughter were listening to a band concert in the park. "What's this they're playing, Mary?" said the mother. "It sounds to me like Wagner." "No," remarked Mary. "I don't think it's Wagner. I think it's Mozart. I'll just go and see." On her return from the bandstand, she said: "We were both wrong. It says 'Refrain From Spitting.'"

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 12, 1927

OPEN ROADS IN WINTER

WHEN Brainerd drew the attention of the world because of its paving celebration signaling the opening of the longest paved road in Minnesota and also the growth of all the year 'round driving, it started something that has echoed and re-echoed wherever there are roads and cars.

Highway officials in 36 "snow states" report a program of open roads for the snow season of 1926 and 1927 aggregating 92,756 miles. In the winter of 1925-1926 the road mileage cleared of snow in these states was about the same, compared with 62,165 miles in the winter of 1924-1925.

Their expenses for snow removal work last winter were in the neighborhood of $4,000,000. Enthusiasm for keeping roads open for winter traffic is so keen in some states that taxpayers insist on snow removal even if the funds required for that purpose curtail road construction work.

It has been ascertained that it is really expensive to keep the roads closed. Roads are in better shape for the spring opening and thaw by being kept in constant use throughout the year. Costly motor vehicles, without roads to carry them, tie up much capital unprofitably.

In the heavy snowfall area, where snow removal is not done, the advantages of paved roads and motor vehicles may be interrupted for three or four months each winter. Progressive rural populations with a large investment in good roads and motor vehicles are becoming less and less inclined to tolerate this condition.

According to a government report from which we quote, so strong is the demand from taxpayers for more extensive snow removal programs, that the department of agriculture believes that it will not be many years before all paved roads and their connecting sections in the United States will be kept open the year around for traffic. Accordingly, the department is studying snow removal expense in various states to ascertain the best and cheapest methods.

Costs of snow removal vary in different localities. The frequency, general direction and strength of the prevailing winds are important factors. Areas in open country with main roads running in a direction that makes drifting inevitable, may have much heavier costs. Whether the snow is moist or dry is another cost factor.

With better roads maintained during the snow season protection from fire is afforded throughout the year. Physicians can make their calls more easily. Country merchants can maintain their stocks at a much reduced carrying expense, rural mail delivery and school attendance are facilitated, and farmers are enabled to supply their markets continuously.

ORIENTALS "PEPPE" UP BASKETBALL

ALTHOUGH basketball was invented by an American, Dr. James Naismith, in 1891, it was the Japanese and Chinese who "pepped" it up into the fast game which is played today, says Hugh Fullerton in an article in Liberty.

"The first rules were developed for us in the Y. M. C. A. gyms," Fullerton explains, "and were gentle and lady-like compared with those now in force. As gymnasium exercise with a mild contest interest, basketball achieved some popularity, but it seemed to arouse little enthusiasm. It lacked something."

"After a number of years," the writer continues, "Everett Brown of the Y. M. C. A. went to Asia to organize the Far East Athletic Association. He introduced basketball to the Y. M. C. A. athletes of China, Japan, Korea and the Philippines. The Far Eastern youngsters discovered flaws, amended the rules, and played a game quite different from the one we knew."

"Those changed rules were brought back to America," Fullerton explains, "amended, corrected, and a game as fast, as fierce, as filled with action and thrills as almost any, save hockey and lacrosse, was evolved."

This gives us a new viewpoint on the Oriental mind, believed by many to be slow-going and not excitable, philosophical and introspective.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

THE Chamber of Commerce starts a new year with its officers and probably many new committee men.

One of the great difficulties in this as well as any other community organization is to have the committees named functioning. It is often the case that a committee is named, starts out with high hopes of doing something and thereafter the chairman is not able to get them together to do anything and sometimes even the chairman, seemingly overcome by the honor of his appointment, fails to do anything.

Life is too short, time and money too valuable, to lose any time with any dead committee. If it fails to report, if it is lax and careless, why discharge it and name another.

In committee appointments care should be exercised in the selection of a chairman. As he is held responsible for his committee work, it would be highly proper and advisable for the president to confer with the committee head and name only such associates as the chairman is certain will work with him.

FROM Montreal to Lake Ontario is a distance of 182 statute miles, of which a total of 46 miles are in six lateral canals having a depth of 14 feet and 21 shift locks. It is in this section of the river that the St. Lawrence Ship Channel will be constructed, reducing the number of locks to seven or nine and the canalized navigation to 21 or 25 miles, according to which alternate plan proposed by the engineers is finally adopted.

SYNOPSIS

John Ballard, left poor by the same fate that deprives him of his parents, works his way through college, then devotes his career to fighting negligent railroads, cherishing a vendetta against them for killing his parents. Phil Hardin, a college chum, now a railroad official, offers John a staggering salary. John wavers; it would be his chance to see Viola Ruckin. But through a misunderstanding Viola sends Phil. John turns down the job, and aims at a political career. Jordan, the money king behind the railroad, warns him not to become an enemy.

Now, without ostentation, without real public knowledge of what was going on, the N. Y. and C. V. was being used as a pawn in a great game. A few years ago it had paid good dividends on its stock, both common and preferred; its bonds had been gilt edged securities. No hint that interest might not be paid on these bonds had ever been heard. Its surplus had been enormous; the road had been rich enough to finance, from its own resources, without expensive borrowing, such necessary improvements as were required to keep it up.

Gradually, under Jordan, all this had changed. The surplus had been wiped out entirely. New bond issues had been made. The road's debt was far greater than it had been; no dividends had been paid for some years. And though, as yet, interest on all the bonds had been promptly paid, there were anything of the sort could be proved in court. These people are clever enough to cover up their tracks. If you came to make an investigation you'd find, I'm pretty sure, that dummy owners had done the actual selling and you'd find it impossible to prove any connection between them and Jordan."

"I see," said John. "It's graft—and, though you know it, you couldn't prove it?"

"Exactly. Some time we'll get proof. People engaged in enterprises of this sort always make a false step sooner or later. They grow overconfident with success, and careless. That is one reason my paper hasn't denounced this sort of thing more. I want to let them think they are pulling the wool over my eyes. I want to lull them into a feeling of false security. It's the best way I know to lead them to give themselves away. That, you see, is our best chance—to have them so cock sure, so satisfied with themselves, that they'll make a blunder that will lay them open to attack. To strike before we have the proof would simply put them on their guard and make it almost hopeless ever to get the goods on them."

John was very thoughtful after that talk with Warren. It opened his eyes; it set his mind to work in new channels. And it was not long before he began to gather evidence fully corroborative of what Warren had told him. Evidence—and yet not evidence. It was evidence that aroused him, but he was lawyer enough to know that it would be useless in a court of law.

Yet, very quietly, very steadily, he built up his arsenal of information. It would all be useful some day; of that he was certain.

For Jordan, as time went on, he came to have a growing dislike and distrust. The man was, it seemed to him, a meddling and sinister figure. He was, for his own selfish ends, dragging a great and once valuable property to ruin and bankruptcy. And that was a disaster that must, John knew, be averted if any possible way to avert it could be found.

The sufferers, if the N. Y. and C. V. went down, would not be Jordan and Phil Hardin and the other big, rich men concerned. No, it was the small stockholders who would suffer. The widows, the orphans, the little people of small means, who had invested all they had in N. Y. and C. V. stocks and bonds. These would be the ones who would be ruined if, as came to John to seem inevitable, the road finally went into the hands of receivers.

For Phil Hardin, his old friend, he had more pity than blame. Phil, it seemed to him, was the same old weakling; he was petty in Jordan's hands. For all his title of president he was no more than Jordan's hired man, forced to do as he was told. He was riding straight for a fall—and, if John knew anything about him, he didn't even know it.

So far as John could tell Phil's marriage had been a happy one. He and Viola had no children but they were seen much together, and Viola, from all that John could gather, was happy and contented. She was still a youthful and beautiful woman; he saw her sometimes at a distance, even met her once or twice face to face. And it terrified John to think of what the future might hold for her.

CHAPTER VII

Ten years had passed into history. John Ballard sat in his office, frowning as he read the morning paper—the Ventura Sun. His office was no longer a room in the dingy little red brick building that had seen the beginnings of his law practice, however. It was a stately, high-ceilinged chamber in the County Court Building.

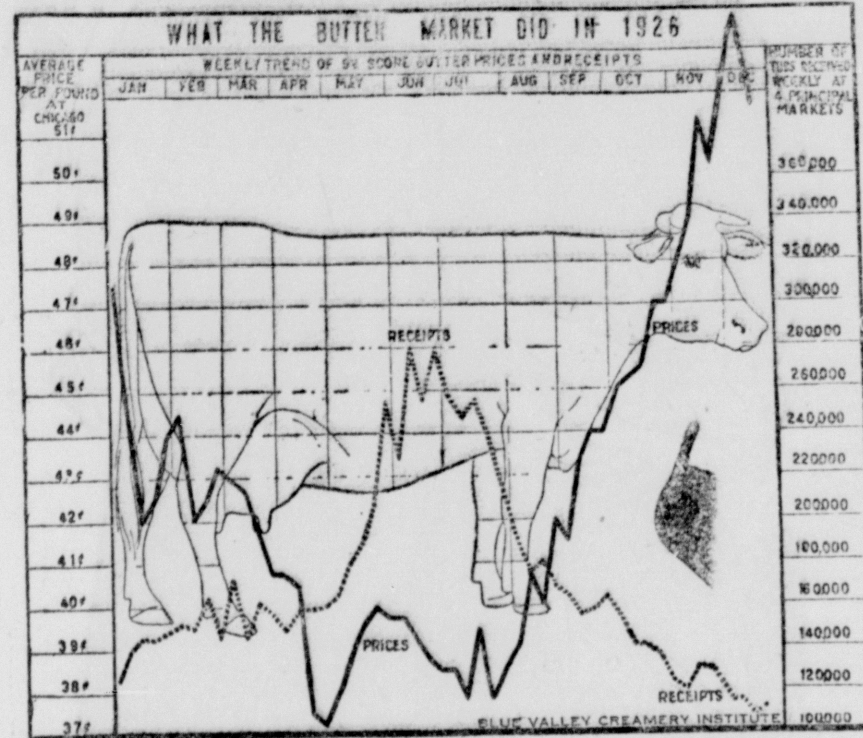

For John Ballard was now, and for two years had been, district attorney of Ventura County—elected after a bitter fight, a campaign that had attracted attention far beyond the confines of the state even. The prediction George Warren had made ten years before had been fulfilled. Despite the efforts of the ring, backed by all the corporate enemies John Ballard had made as a lawyer, the reform element had succeeded, for the first time, the first time at least in this generation, in breaking down the entrenched power of Ballard's political group and putting an honest and fearless man into the office. It was most dangerous to the crooks to lose.

John's two years in office, the first half of his term, had been busy and active years. Already he had accomplished a great deal. He had put the four of the law into the hands and minds of men who had thought themselves above and beyond all law. He had terrified the police into making a real effort to clean up vice conditions in the city. He had made it plain that the old graft in city and county contracts was dead—at least while he held office.

And now, staring at him from the columns of the first page of the Sun, was news that beckoned him to the greatest fight of all.

1926 PROFITABLE YEAR FOR DAIRYMAN

DESPITE the fact that market receipts were slightly below 1925 figures, lower feed costs and higher prices in 1926 provided the dairyman with profits equal to those of the previous year, according to the annual review of the dairy situation made by the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. The 1927 outlook is optimistic, the Institute states, because of a 10,000,000 pound shortage in storage stocks of butter December 1st, the low feed costs, and the fact that the number of dairy cows is not above normal.

During the first six months of 1926 market receipts were ahead of corresponding 1925 figures, but during the last half of the year, they were enough below those of 1925 to lower slightly the total receipts for the entire year. Prices made their usual seasonal decline and advance. They declined during the first four months of the year, with increasing receipts, and during the period of heaviest receipts in May, June and July, prices reached the lowest point. While prices usually start the fall advance in July, it was delayed until August this year because of heavy accumulated receipts. Later lighter receipts removed the surplus and prices shot up rapidly in almost a straight advance from 38 cents to 54½ cents in less than five months.

The butter situation was clouded at the end of 1926 by some importations of foreign butter. The foreign markets were so low in comparison with those in the United States that butter could be profitably imported, in spite of the import differential. With some decline in domestic prices, this danger from foreign competition was largely removed and little fear is expected from this source.

The short storage stocks and favorable feed prices present a favorable situation in the outlook for the first six months of 1927. It is likely that there will be some increase in feed prices, but the advance is not expected to be sufficient to remove the margin of profit from feedings.

Mark Civilization

Just as telegraph poles marked the westward advance of civilization, so other products of the forest have kept pace with Uncle Sam's growth and made it possible. The American Tree association says 5,000,000 trees are cut every year for telegraph and telephone poles and that 500,000,000 fence posts are used every year.

OPEN ROADS IN WINTER

WHEN Brainerd drew the attention of the world because of its paving celebration signaling the opening of the longest paved road in Minnesota and also the growth of all the year 'round driving, it started something that has echoed and re-echoed wherever there are roads and cars.

Highway officials in 36 "snow states" report a program of open roads for the snow season of 1926 and 1927 aggregating 92,756 miles. In the winter of 1925-1926 the road mileage cleared of snow in these states was about the same, compared with 62,165 miles in the winter of 1924-1925.

Their expenses for snow removal work last winter were in the neighborhood of $4,000,000. Enthusiasm for keeping roads open for winter traffic is so keen in some states that taxpayers insist on snow removal even if the funds required for that purpose curtail road construction work.

It has been ascertained that it is really expensive to keep the roads closed. Roads are in better shape for the spring opening and thaw by being kept in constant use throughout the year. Costly motor vehicles, without roads to carry them, tie up much capital unprofitably.

In the heavy snowfall area, where snow removal is not done, the advantages of paved roads and motor vehicles may be interrupted for three or four months each winter. Progressive rural populations with a large investment in good roads and motor vehicles are becoming less and less inclined to tolerate this condition.

According to a government report from which we quote, so strong is the demand from taxpayers for more extensive snow removal programs, that the department of agriculture believes that it will not be many years before all paved roads and their connecting sections in the United States will be kept open the year around for traffic. Accordingly, the department is studying snow removal expense in various states to ascertain the best and cheapest methods.

Costs of snow removal vary in different localities. The frequency, general direction and strength of the prevailing winds are important factors. Areas in open country with main roads running in a direction that makes drifting inevitable, may have much heavier costs. Whether the snow is moist or dry is another cost factor.

With better roads maintained during the snow season protection from fire is afforded throughout the year. Physicians can make their calls more easily. Country merchants can maintain their stocks at a much reduced carrying expense, rural mail delivery and school attendance are facilitated, and farmers are enabled to supply their markets continuously.

ORIENTALS "PEPPED" UP BASKETBALL

ALTHOUGH basketball was invented by an American, Dr. James Naismith, in 1891, it was the Japanese and Chinese who "pepped" it up into the fast game which is played today, says Hugh Fullerton in an article in Liberty.

"The first rules were developed for us in the Y. M. C. A. gyms," Fullerton explains, "and were gentle and lady-like compared with those now in force. As gymnasium exercise with a mild contest interest, basketball achieved some popularity, but it seemed to arouse little enthusiasm. It lacked something."

"After a number of years," the writer continues, "Everett Brown of the Y. M. C. A. went to Asia to organize the Far East Athletic Association. He introduced basketball to the Y. M. C. A. athletes of China, Japan, Korea and the Philippines. The Far Eastern youngsters discovered flaws, amended the rules, and played a game quite different from the one we knew."

"Those changed rules were brought back to America," Fullerton explains, "amended, corrected, and a game as fast, as fierce, as filled with action and thrills as almost any, save hockey and lacrosse, was evolved."

This gives us a new viewpoint on the Oriental mind, believed by many to be slow-going and not excitable, philosophical and introspective.

MUSSOLINI'S EFFICIENCY PRECEPTS

Master your body and mind.
Concentrate on the one thing before you.
Get seven hours' sound sleep.
Never stay in bed after the instant of awakening.
Read the newspapers while dressing.
Shave. "I am anti-whiskers."
Drink a glass of milk for breakfast.

It has been my rule of life to employ the body and mind to render the maximum output. We have not yet fully exploited the potentialities of physical and mental man to the point of calling him efficient. Just now, we can but meditate on those possibilities and try to attain as best as we can the limit of our capabilities. I believe as William James, that the use of all our mental and physical faculties would permit us to accomplish infinitely more than we can even imagine, should we use these faculties with proper coordination.

Moreover, what I do, I do with the maximum of my ability. I concentrate on the matter on hand, whether it be riding, speaking or directing the government. I pour out the same enthusiasm on a simple ceremony as I would on an important diplomatic affair. I play hard. I work hard. My mind works on that which I will it to work. Should it be forced to change its train of thought, I take up another, it can do it with the greatest ease, leaving the previous matter completely behind. It is free to study that which is before it. Once I choose for it its work, then all else is left outside for that moment. With such a power, the mind is always ready to devote its full capabilities to that which the will wills, unimpeded by other impressions which try to push themselves into its gearing to disturb its efficient functioning.

Napoleon's Rule

This mastery over body and brain travels with me the day long and the night long. My sleep is like that of a babe. It is profound, relaxed undisturbed and therefore, extremely restful for the physical agencies which form part of the nervous system. I believe that I could sleep in the worst tumult. In war, I could sleep soundly during a bombardment and could profit by any respite in the fighting, whenever my commander would permit me after long days and nights incessant conflict, to snatch even fifteen minutes sleep. Even now, on big days, such as the meeting of the Fascist grand council, which reaches long into the night, I can go home, take an hour's sleep and return to work refreshed and relaxed.

Ordinarily I go to bed at midnight and rise at seven. The orders are that I am never to be disturbed except in case of very bad news. It is my philosophy that good news can wait—there is no immediate urgency of communicating it and the joy of its announcement will be much more greatly relished after a refreshing sleep. Besides, a bad dream might intervene and spoil the effect if one is awakened, while the news in the morning is a great antidote for the dream.

This was Napoleon's rule—adopted therefore from one whose achievements reached more stupendous heights than anyone since his time—and I find that it permits, a generous rest, the disturbing elements being all eliminated from the mind, putting it in repose. The fact is that I have only been awakened three times since my assumption of power. The first was a fire at the central telegraph office in Rome, the very heart of Italy's system of communication and the second time was during the Corfu incident in 1923 during a turn of the negotiations. I rose immediately on the latter occasion to deal promptly with it. When there is a serious situation on hand, the prompter the action, the better. Things might be righted, while a few hours delay might spell disaster. After settling the matter, I returned to bed and enjoyed another two or three hours sound repose.

The third time I was disturbed was on the death of our lamented Queen Margherita. She had a noble and magnanimous soul, endowed with angelic virtues. I adored her gentleness and sympathy with high and low. She was gracious to all and to her last wished me well for the greatness of Italy. She was hailed as a "fascist queen" and all fascists loved her profoundly. The sickness which preceded her death filled the days with anguish and I gave orders that I should be kept informed of her condition and be awakened any night that a turn for the worse occurred. She died peacefully on the morning of January 10, 1927. I arose to mourn, to share the nation's mourning and bring a word of comfort to the king and royal family.

Ordinarily, it is from a sound sleep of seven hours, I awake on a few days

UNITED PRESS SCORES BEAT WITH SERIES BY MUSSOLINI

One of the outstanding newspaper exploits of recent years is revealed in the release today by the United Press of a series of articles by Premier Benito Mussolini, in which Mussolini tells the intimate, personal story of his daily life.

The articles were secured exclusively for newspapers receiving United Press service through the enterprise of Thomas B. Morgan, Rome manager of the United Press. They were in large part dictated to Mr. Morgan by Mussolini. For an hour or more each day over a period of four weeks Mr. Morgan worked side-by-side with the premier, assisting in the formulation, revision and correction of the articles.

Securing the consent of the Italian premier to authorship of such a strongly personal series of newspaper articles was a task requiring a high degree of personal ability and tact. It demonstrated the confidence which Mussolini reposes in the United Press organization and its Rome office. Mussolini is regarded by his followers as the busiest man in the world. He works intensively 14 to 16 hours a day. He personally holds seven portfolios in his own government. Every minute of each day is scheduled in advance for some definite thing the premier must do. Personal efficiency is his fetish; hard work his gospel. He consented to publication of the series of articles largely in the belief that his own example of efficiency might do some good in the world.

every day, ready to meet it, greatly refreshed with restored energy and replaced force. Seemingly as if to prove my re-gotten strength, I instinctively stretch and yawn, giving my lungs and muscles an extra awakening and, as quick as a flash, I am out of bed. My day has begun. I never stay in bed a moment after the yawn. I cannot but think that the practice of lying in bed after one awakens is conducive to lassitude and dullness. It cannot but breed stagnation of body and mind. It is demoralizing to the discipline of self. It puts a defensive spirit in life and robs the individual of a bold and smashing offensive to face the day.

While still in my pajamas, I take a few simple arm and leg movements just to limber me up. I breathe deeply to get my lungs full of fresh air, for though I sleep with my window open, there is need that the lungs resume actively their functions for a working body and not a sleeping one. That operation just takes a minute or two and I am then in my bath.

My bath is always tepid, the temperature of the body. I am not a disciple of the cold bath the first thing in the morning, for the reason that the functions of the system have not reached their maximum momentum and to require the heart and nervous organs to resist a cold bath is asking too much of them before they have properly put on full speed. The tepid bath meets my requirements and tempers me for a brisk rubdown. I attach great importance to the latter. I perform it myself and briskly, very briskly. I will not allow a masseur near me, as I do my rub-down to my own liking and without any ceremony. I know it is more efficacious. The blood is forced to circulate and I feel my whole being somehow springing into action. The skin is refreshed and riden of all redundant surplus ready to be renewed and stay healthy.

Trained Reader

When I come from the bath, the newspapers are brought to me. I read them while dressing for my horse-back ride. I am one of those who can truly say that he was once a newspaperman and responding to my training I can glance through them with the eye of the experienced editor. To dress while reading is not a difficulty. The dressing is a purely mechanical function and subordinate to the will without any conscious thought. It should not be a subject for mental expenditure. We do it every day, then why not make the physical agencies which the operation in dressing takes, work automatically, just as one's fingers do on the typewriter or the piano. The reading of the newspaper then becomes an added product of the mental mechanism, which it can perfectly well accomplish while the fingers are occupied elsewhere.

My shave comes before I put on my collar. I have become rather skillful in the use of an American safety razor and, though my beard is thick and stiff, I have attained such dexterity that I feel like saying "so many seconds from lather to towel" or whatever set-shavers are supposed to measure their speed on. However, I have to use a new blade every time I shave for there are no blades made that can stand more than one shave on my beard. And, I must shave every day. It all must come off, too, for I wear no moustache, which is one of my American attributes.

I am anti-whiskers. Fascism is anti-whiskers. Whiskers are a sign of decadence. Glance at the busts of the great Roman Emperors and you will find them all clean-shaven—Caesar, Augustus. When the decline of Roman glory began, whiskers came into style. It is true of all periods. The Renaissance was a beardless period. Whiskers were the rule in the old decadent regime, which fascism replaces with youth of clean-shaven faces. The beard is oriental, the smooth face occidental.

A Speechless Barber

My barber peeks in at me occasionally looking with envy on the accomplishment of the safety. When I am not pressed for time I let him do the shaving. He is no common barber. He has a character all his own and was not made in the same mould which ordinary barbers are made in. He is not loquacious. He tells me none of his troubles and I tell him none of mine. He withholds his joys and I withhold mine. He does not play with and fondle my face when I allow him to shoo how much he can beat the safety. He is a man, devoted to shaving, in which profession he is an artist. He lathers without any extra flourishes and draws the razor across the face without unnecessary expenditure of physical effort. He appreciates with me that useless effort is lost. So well have both of us carried this out, that we have not exchanged more than two words—outside of greetings—in the entire four years he has been giving me an occasional shave. I go then fully attired wearing my riding breeches to breakfast. It is what I call a breakfast! I wonder sometimes what an Englishman, or an American or a German would call it and what he would do with such a breakfast as mine. There is no fruit. There is no toast. There are no sausages, ham and eggs, breakfast foods or anything which would typify the modern breakfast. There is even no coffee, for I do not drink coffee in any form—it is not a food, it is disastrous for brain-workers. My breakfast simply consists of a glass of milk and is a matter of one minute. I drink it at the table in small gulps so that it might be properly salivated.

Milk is a wonderful food, perhaps the best food known to man. This one glass of milk contains enough nourishment to sustain me until the mid-day meal six hours hence. It is always taken when I am alone for I am not a great lover of company at table. The greatest honor I can bestow upon anyone is to invite them to lunch. It would even be an honor for my own brother, Cestira, my servant, puts the milk on the table and then withdraws. She is forty and silent, uncommunicative.

It is 7:30 and I am ready to take my morning canter.

In a future issue of the Dispatch Premier Mussolini tells what he does with his one hour a day of recreation. Also, he definitely answers the worldwide rumors that he is afflicted with an incurable malady.

Made for You!

If you are a motorist who appreciates a smooth running car—Iso-Vis was made for you!

Iso-Vis is a motor oil that is new—and different. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) developed it to meet the new theory of scientific lubrication—solving the greatest of all lubrication problems—dilution in the crank-case.

You may not have much technical knowledge of dilution, but you probably have paid for it in money and in worry! Thin oil—engine unprotected—repair bills! It's an old story!

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has solved the problem of dilution by developing Iso-Vis. This remarkable new motor oil does not thin out as other oils do. It protects the engine from start to finish, and it gives you the smoothest motoring—even in winter weather—that you have ever enjoyed. In extremely cold weather, Iso-Vis "Light" is recommended.

Iso-Vis costs a little more per quart but it decreases the cost of lubrication and subtracts lubricating troubles. Try it!

NEWS— NOT PROPAGANDA!

YOU heard of propaganda during the war. Do not believe that the warfare of words has been abandoned. News-doctoring is still a weapon of old world politics. Can foreign news, gathered by foreign agencies subsidized by foreign governments be free from the taint of propaganda?

The UNITED PRESS is independent of any official or semi-official or governmentally-subsidized agencies. It has no connection nor any relation with any kind of "kept" agency anywhere.

Newspaper publishers and newspaper readers therefore have confidence in the honesty and accuracy and complete impartiality of the UNITED PRESS.

The UNITED PRESS, mind you, does not disseminate American propaganda any more than it would carry English or French or German propaganda. The world is sick of propaganda of ANY kind. It wants the facts. It wants the truth. Nothing else.

"BY UNITED PRESS" over a news-story in your newspaper is the symbol of reliable, authoritative news.

Not every newspaper has the privilege of carrying UNITED PRESS news. The UNITED PRESS newspaper of any city is the newspaper which discerning readers naturally prefer.

Now turn to the front page and note the number of UNITED PRESS dispatches. Look for that word "UNITED" in this newspaper every day.

Premier of Italy

Rome Manager of the United Press.

MUSSOLINI'S EFFICIENCY PRECEPTS
Master your body and mind.
Concentrate on the one thing before you.
Get seven hours' sound sleep.
Never stay in bed after the instant of awakening.
Read the newspapers while dressing.
Shave. "I am anti-whiskers."
Drink a glass of milk for breakfast.

It has been my rule of life to employ the body and mind to render the maximum output. We have not yet fully exploited the potentialities of physical and mental man to the point of calling him efficient. Just now, we can but meditate on those possibilities and try to attain as best as we can the limit of our capabilities. I believe as William James, that the use of all our mental and physical faculties would permit us to accomplish infinitely more than we can even imagine, should we use these faculties with proper coordination.

Moreover, what I do, I do with the maximum of my ability. I concentrate on the matter on hand, whether it be riding, speaking or directing the government. I pour out the same enthusiasm on a simple ceremony as I would on an important diplomatic affair. I play hard. I work hard. My mind works on that which I will it to work. Should it be forced to change its train of thought to take up another, it can do it with the greatest ease, leaving the previous matter completely behind. It is free to study that which is before it. Once I choose for it its work, then all else is left outside for that moment. With such a power, the mind is always ready to devote its full capabilities to that which the will wills, unimpeded by other impressions which try to push themselves into its gearing to disturb its efficient functioning.

Napoleon's Rule
This mastery over body and brain travels with me the day long and the night long. My sleep is like that of a babe. It is profound, relaxed undisturbed and therefore, extremely respectful for the physical agencies which form part of the nervous system. I believe that I could sleep in the worst tumult. BRAINERD HIGH DEFEATS AITKIN 14 TO 9

MATCH MARKED BY NUMEROUS FOULS CALLED

BRAINERD HELD AITKIN TO TWO FIELD GOALS MADE IN LAST MINUTES OF PLAY

HONORS AMONG THE BRAINERD PLAYERS ABOUT EVENLY DIVIDED

Basketball fans in B. H. S. circles are quite elated today over the victory brought home last evening by the local cagers from Aitkin whom they conquered 14-9 in a very hotly contested game last night. Brainerd held Aitkin to two field goals which were made in the last few minutes of play and although Aitkin lead in the first minutes of the initial period, Brainerd soon assumed the lead and continued until the victorious end. The conflict was marked by numerous fouls, three being called on Aitkin and eight on Brainerd.

Honors among the local men are evenly divided; the entire aggregation was up on its toes and "rarin' to go" at all times, excellent guarding being evident on the part of the team during the fray. Aitkin resorted to long shots but could not connect with the basket.

Guin, center, again started the scoring for the locals by a successful throw from the foul line, Orth immediately following with a field goal and tying Aitkin's lead.

The line-ups:
Aitkin—Stanford, f; Smith, f; Oltz, c; G. Smith, g; MacGregor, g.
Brainerd—Orth, f; Fitzharris, f; Guin, c; DeRoche, g; Lowe, g.

Subs—Daily for Stanford, Waltz for Smith, Denny for MacGregor, Wise for Orth.

Scoring:
Field goals—Orth 1, Fitzharris 2, Guin 1, Lowe 2, E. Smith 1, Oltz 1.
Personal fouls—Orth 1, Fitzharris 2, DeRoche 2, Lowe 3, E. Smith 1, G. Smith 1, MacGregor 1.

Free throws made—Fitzharris, 1 out of 3; Guin, 1-1; Stanford, 2-2; Daily, 0-2; Oltz, 0-2; D. Smith, 3-4.
A large group of loyal and animated fans accompanied Coach Beresford and his men and contributed a great deal to the victory with their cheering.

Friday evening, another capacity house is expected for the game with Crosby. Practically the same line-up will start out and hopes are being fervently expressed for another victory so Brainerd can continue its championship march. The first game at 7:30 o'clock will be played between the girls of the two cities. This is the first time that the official girl's team of B. H. S. had made its appearance this season and though hampered by the loss of many of its best players by graduation, a good showing is looked for.

The B. H. S. girls' teams of the past have been the strongest and most feared in the district and there is much speculation as to the caliber of this year's team which is composed mainly of green and inexperienced material. Players will be chosen from among the following, with Miss Reinertson as coach: Grace Alzant, Captain Helen Bergs, Hilda Delnick, Kathleen Early, Sylvia Erickson, Edna Fogelsrom, Margaret Jackson, Dorothy Kleven, Marion Liners, Fern Lewis, Cella Loya, Irene Molstad, Charlotte Peters, Alta Storm. The girls' game, serving as a preliminary will begin at 7:30 o'clock while the other contest is scheduled for 8:30 o'clock, with Smith of Bemidji refereeing.

WARFARE ON RACE TRACK GAMBLING BY FLORIDA PEOPLE

Miami, Fla., Jan. 12.—(UP)—Warfare on race track gambling by Florida crusaders has aroused local business men to a defense of purse and greyhound racing.

The Miami Chamber of Commerce, Realty board, and Hotel Men's association have presented resolutions favoring continuance of the sport to Governor John W. Martin.

Meanwhile both sides are awaiting the decision of the state supreme court on an appeal against an injunction which closed the Pompano race track last week. The Miami Jockey club plans to open its meet here tomorrow, although an injunction against its operation may be sought.

Jumpers of Three Nations to Compete

Cary, Ill.—Jumpers of three nations in addition to American ski riders will jump in the annual Norge ski tournament here Sunday. Otto Fahrner, and A. Hengsteler, Germany, Nels Nelsen, Revelstoke, B. C., and Rolf Jahren, Norway are the invading jumpers who will vie with American stars.

HOCKEY GAINING IN FAVOR

DEMPSEY NOT ENTHUSED ABOUT ELIMINATION IDEA

Los Angeles, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Jack Dempsey, planning to re-enter the ring in an effort to win anew the heavyweight championship, thus far has been left cold by Tex Rickard's idea that he should enter an elimination tournament.

Dempsey intimated he was willing to fight Gene Tunney but was not interested in a semi-final bout to precede the championship match.

The former title-holder intends to leave for the east within a month or six weeks after some preliminary training here.

SPEEDY COMBINATION FROM RED WING WILL SHOW WARES AGAINST RAINBOWS

PRELIMINARY GAME TO BRING ROBIDEAU BROTHERS HERE TO PLAY FLYING ACES

The Redmen from Red Wing will bring a clever squad to Brainerd on Saturday night to play the Rainbows, and in their bag of tricks they have some of the classiest stunts that local fans ever saw. When they open up with their wares, their dribbling, their fake passing and their shifty floor play will bring a good response from fans here.

In Black Rasey the visitors have one of the fastest men in the state. Rasey scored seven field goals against the Rainbows in their first meeting this year, and just loafed through the one-sided contest. The meeting this week-end will be different, and Rasey will have to put forth his best to score any number of goals against the guards of the local team.

Ken Brown, center, scored nine goals against the locals in that game and this Carleton star will be out to add to his record again Saturday. Maetzold of Hamline is another of the visitor's aces, and his work will be a pleasure to watch.

The Rainbows will have a few tricks of their own to display, and will give the fans a real exhibition. Engbretson, Ericsson and Ziebell have located their scoring eyes, and will be out to vie for honors with Rasey et al.

In the preliminary game, the Flying Aces will bump against the Pine River Pirates again, in the second meeting of these quints this season. In the first game the Pirates eked out a scant victory by 14 to 11. The Robideau brothers and Christian, all of whom played with the district championship team two years ago, will be in the visitors' line-up, and they will have a few words and actions to say about the outcome of the game. For the Flying Aces, Avery and Bill Heikkinen will team up at the forward positions, and this game ought to be worth the full price of admission in itself.

Peterson will referee the first game between the Aces and the Pirates, while Lowe will referee the Rainbows-Redmen game. The first will start at 8 o'clock, while the second game will be called at 8:45 p. m.

Following the Saturday game the Rainbows will entrain for the northeast, to meet six different opponents in as many days. Then they will return to their home base, ready for another siege of games. The schedule for the games after the road trip will be as follows:

Jan. 26—Foley's Specials at Brainerd.
Jan. 29—Rainbows at Isle.
Feb. 5—Staples at Brainerd.
Feb. 12—Nashauk at Brainerd.
Feb. 25—Brainerd at Minneapolis.
Feb. 26—Duluth at Brainerd.

Negotiations are being carried on with the Chicago Bruins, and if the turnout of fans Saturday will justify this game, Manager Peterson promises to book it. The Bruins have just signed "Moon" Baker, Northwestern University star, and have a high class team.

FOUR TEAMS ASSURED FOR HOCKEY LEAGUE

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING OF CITY PUCK CHASERS HELD LAST EVENING

50 APPLICATIONS RECEIVED FOR POSITIONS ON PROMISING TEAMS

A small but enthusiastic meeting of city hockey players was held last night at the Chamber of Commerce rooms and although no officers were elected at last night's meeting, it was decided to form plans for a four team league. There are about 50 applications for positions on these four teams and there is no question but that four strong teams can be organized which should develop a city team for next year to enter the Northern League.

The South Side team which defeated the business men's team last Sunday has issued a challenge to the North Side team for a game this coming Sunday and the North Siders have accepted it. The South Siders will practice tonight at the rink and the North Siders will practice tomorrow night. If sufficient players turn out there will be two games instead of one so that all players will have an opportunity to play.

A veteran hockey player has offered his assistance in conducting and training the teams and the teams will receive the same training that is adopted in the professional league. A large crowd of railbirds is expected to witness Sunday's game.

NEW YORK BOXING RULES NOT AMENDED

LIMIT TOP ADMISSION TO CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH TO $25

RICKARD IS CONFIDENT HE MAY BE ABLE TO CHARGE $50

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Jan. 12.—Rules of the New York boxing commission, which limit the top admission price to a championship match to $25, will not be amended for Tex Rickard or any New York promoter, the United Press was informed today by a source that governs boxing in the state with as much power as Commissioner Landis has over baseball.

When Rickard announced in St. Louis that he had signed Gene Tunney to defend the heavyweight championship of the world in the Yankee Stadium next September for a sum that might be $1,000,000, he voiced confidence that he would be able to charge $50 each for all ringside seats.

There isn't a chance in the world that the rules of the commission, which provide for a maximum admission price of $25 for a championship match, will be changed, the United Press was told.

In announcing that the Yankee Stadium would be the battlefield, Rickard explained that he could not seat as many spectators as he did in the Philadelphia stadium where Tunney dethroned Jack Dempsey last fall, but that a top price of $50 would make the gate receipts larger.

It does not follow, of course, that Rickard is bound to use the Yankee stadium. The mayors of Philadelphia and Baltimore have invited him to consider the use of huge municipal stadia in their cities. The powers of boxing in New York feel that Rickard is trying to hold a club over them.

It has been pointed out that New York state lost a huge sum in taxes and profits for business men when the commission forced Rickard to take the Dempsey-Tunney fight to Philadelphia.

But the argument enters that New York doesn't need the tax money badly enough to let one promoter or a group of promoters force the hand of politicians who do not want their authority to be questioned by the boxing element.

Princeton Quintet Adopts Huddle Plan

The football huddle system of calling signals has invaded the basketball court. Coach Al Wittmer introduced it to the Princeton basketball five. Princeton was the first major Eastern eleven to make use of the huddle in calling signals on the gridiron, and will be the first Eastern five to use it on the court. The Tiger quintet will go into a huddle before each tip-off to give the signal for the offensive play.

Director Staggs Catches Coach Zuppke Unawares

They're telling this one around the Midway on Bob Zuppke of Illinois. After the Illinois victory over the Maroons Director A. A. Staggs of Chicago went to the dressing room of the Illinois team to congratulate Zuppke. He entered unannounced, just in the middle of a harrangue by the fiery Illinois coach to his team: "You big lummoxes," said Zuppke, "you had a chance to run up a score and rub it into those fellows. But you messed it up." Noticing the grins of his players, Zuppke turned to see Staggs advancing. "Well, Zup, congratulations," said the Old Man. "Your team played a fine game." "Oh, uh, well, thanks," said Zuppke, "but they did miss their chances." "Yes, but you must remember that they were playing against a bunch of boys who at least were trying hard," Staggs told him.

BRAINERD HIGH DEFEATS AITKIN 14 TO 9

MATCH MARKED BY NUMEROUS FOULS CALLED

BRAINERD HELD AITKIN TO TWO FIELD GOALS MADE IN LAST MINUTES OF PLAY

HONORS AMONG THE BRAINERD PLAYERS ABOUT EVENLY DIVIDED

Basketball fans in B. H. S. circles are quite elated today over the victory brought home last evening by the local cagers from Aitkin whom they conquered 14-9 in a very hotly contested game last night. Brainerd held Aitkin to two field goals which were made in the last few minutes of play and although Aitkin lead in the first minutes of the initial period, Brainerd soon assumed the lead and continued until the victorious end. The conflict was marked by numerous fouls, three being called on Aitkin and eight on Brainerd.

Honors among the local men are evenly divided; the entire aggregation was up on its toes and "rarin' to go" at all times, excellent guarding being evident on the part of the team during the fray. Aitkin resorted to long shots but could not connect with the basket.

Guin, center, again started the scoring for the locals by a successful throw from the foul line, Orth immediately following with a field goal and tying Aitkin's lead.

The line-ups:
Aitkin—Stanford, f; Smith, f; Olitz, c; G. Smith, g; MacGregor, g; Brainerd—Orth, f; Fitzharris, f; Guin, c; DeRoche, c; Lowe, g.

Subs—Daily for Stanford, Waltz for Smith, Dennerly for MacGregor, Wise for Orth.

Scoring:
Field goals—Orth 1, Fitzharris 2, Guin 1, Lowe 2, E. Smith 1, Olitz 1. Personal fouls—Orth 1, Fitzharris 2, DeRoche 2, Lowe 3, E. Smith 1, G. Smith 1, MacGregor 1.

Free throws made—Fitzharris, 1 out of 3; Guin, 1-1; Stanford, 2-2; Daily, 0-2; Olitz, 0-2; D. Smith, 3-4. A large group of loyal and animated fans accompanied Coach Beresford and his men and contributed a great deal to the victory with their cheering.

Friday evening, another capacity house is expected for the game with Crosby. Practically the same line-up will start out and hopes are being fervently expressed for another victory so Brainerd can continue its championship march. The first game at 7:30 o'clock will be played between the girls of the two cities. This is the first time that the official girls' team of B. H. S. had made its appearance this season and though hampered by the loss of many of its best players by graduation, a good showing is looked for.

The B. H. S. girls' teams of the past have been the strongest and most feared in the district and there is much speculation as to the caliber of this year's team which is composed mainly of green and inexperienced material. Players will be chosen from among the following, with Miss Reimertson as coach: Grace Alzant, Captain Helen Beggs, Hilda Delnick, Kathleen Early, Sylvia Erickson, Edna Fogelstrom, Margaret Jackson, Dorothy Kleven, Marion Liners, Fern Lewis, Cella Loya, Irene Molstad, Charlotte Peters, Alta Storm. The girls' game, serving as a preliminary will begin at 7:30 o'clock while the other contest is scheduled for 8:30 o'clock, with Smith of Bemidji refereeing.

WARFARE ON RACE TRACK GAMBLING BY FLORIDA PEOPLE

Miami, Fla., Jan. 12.—(UP)—Warfare on race track gambling by Florida crusaders has aroused local business men to a defense of purse and greyhound racing.

The Miami Chamber of Commerce, Realty board, and Hotel Men's association have presented resolutions favoring continuance of the sport to Governor John W. Martin.

Meanwhile both sides are awaiting the decision of the state supreme court on an appeal against an injunction which closed the Pompano race track last week. The Miami Jockey club plans to open its meet here tomorrow, although an injunction against its operation may be sought.

ELIMINATION IDEA

Los Angeles, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Jack Dempsey, planning to re-enter the ring in an effort to win anew the heavyweight championship, thus far has been left cold by Tex Rickard's idea that he should enter an elimination tournament.

Dempsey intimated he was willing to fight Gene Tunney but was not interested in a semi-final bout to precede the championship match.

The former title-holder intends to leave for the east within a month or six weeks after some preliminary training here.

REDMEN QUINT READY TO OPEN BAG OF TRICKS

SPEEDY COMBINATION FROM RED WING WILL SHOW WARES AGAINST RAINBOWS

PRELIMINARY GAME TO BRING ROBIDEAU BROTHERS HERE TO PLAY FLYING ACES

The Redmen from Red Wing will bring a clever squad to Brainerd on Saturday night to play the Rainbows, and in their bag of tricks they have some of the classic stunts that local fans ever saw. When they open up with their wares, their dribbling, their fake passing and their shifty floor play will bring a good response from fans here.

In Black Rasey the visitors have one of the fastest men in the state. Rasey scored seven field goals against the Rainbows in their first meeting this year, and just loafed through the one-sided contest. The meeting this week-end will be different, and Rasey will have to put forth his best to score any number of goals against the guards of the local team.

Ken Brown, center, scored nine goals against the locals in that game and this Carleton star will be out to add to his record again Saturday. Maetzold of Hamline is another of the visitor's aces, and his work will be a pleasure to watch.

The Rainbows will have a few tricks of their own to display, and will give the fans a real exhibition. Engbretson, Ericsson and Ziebell have located their scoring eyes, and will be out to vie for honors with Rasey et al.

In the preliminary game, the Flying Aces will bump against the Pine River Pirates again, in the second meeting of these quintets this season. In the first game the Pirates eked out a scant victory by 14 to 11. The Robideau brothers and Christian, all of whom played with the district championship team two years ago, will be in the visitors' line-up, and they will have a few words and actions to say about the outcome of the game. For the Flying Aces, Avery and Bill Heikkinen will team up at the forward positions, and this game ought to be worth the full price of admission in itself.

Peterson will referee the first game between the Aces and the Pirates, while Lowe will referee the Rainbows-Redmen game. The first will start at 8 o'clock, while the second game will be called at 8:45 p. m.

Following the Saturday game the Rainbows will train for the northeast, to meet six different opponents in as many days. Then they will return to their home base, ready for another siege of games. The schedule for the games after the road trip will be as follows:

Jan. 26—Foley's Specials at Brainerd.

NEW YORK BOXING RULES NOT AMENDED

LIMIT TOP ADMISSION TO CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH TO $25

RICKARD IS CONFIDENT HE MAY BE ABLE TO CHARGE $50

TAKE BOWERMAN CASE TO BEMIDJI

Trial Before Judge Stanton Set for Feb. 8; Charged With Maintaining Nuisance

ACTION TAKEN YESTERDAY
Affidavit of Prejudice Filed Against Special Judge J. M. Hayes

Following the filing of a special affidavit of prejudice by Attorney Basil T. Heath on behalf of his client Carl Bowerman charged with maintaining a nuisance, against Special Judge J. M. Hayes, alleging prejudice and bias on the part of the special judge, an order was obtained by Attorney Heath from Judge W. S. McClenahan, restraining Special Judge Hayes and the police department from issuing commitment papers or holding the defendant in custody until February 8 when the matter is to be heard before Judge C. W. Stanton at Bemidji.

The history of the case follows: Carl Bowerman was arraigned on January 3 in the municipal court on the charge of maintaining a nuisance. He entered a plea of not guilty through his attorney Basil T. Heath, and the case was then continued until January 11 at 2 p. m.

Affidavit of prejudice was filed by Attorney Basil T. Heath against Special Judge J. M. Hayes alleging prejudice and bias on the part of the special judge.

The case was called at 2 p. m. yesterday, special appearance made by Basil T. Heath, objecting to all proceedings on the grounds of the filing of the affidavit of prejudice also moving dismissal of the case on the same grounds.

The motion was denied and prosecution presented their evidence through the following witnesses: Fred J. Reid, ex-sheriff; Theodore Nesheim, ex-deputy sheriff; George Rardin, and Chief of Police Templeton.

Bowerman was not present in court. The court found Bowerman guilty, sentenced him to pay a fine of $100 or in default 90 days in jail.

An order was then obtained by Basil T. Heath from Judge of the District Court W. S. McClenahan restraining Special Judge J. M. Hayes and the police department from issuing commitment papers or holding the defendant in custody until February 8 when the matter is to be heard before Judge C. W. Stanton at Bemidji.

LINCOLN P. T. A. HAS DAD'S NIGHT

President, Mayor Frank E. Little, Presides at Deliberations

SONGFEST IS HELD

County Attorney Walter F. Wieland Speaks on "Conservation"

The clinking of dishes, the measuring of cakes with a yard stick and se-aproned men, served to open the evening's festivities at the Lincoln school last evening when the "dads" of the district condescended to forget their business cares and take over the affairs of the Parent-Teachers association for one session.

President, Mayor Frank E. Little, led away over the assembly, flanked on both sides by Vice President Sam Lewkins and Secretary George Lucas. Ray Hall acted as treasurer.

Alfred Dillan, song leader opened the program by leading the audience in favorite songs and ditties such as "We're Here Because We're Here" sung by hundreds of voices which echoed and re-echoed throughout the halls and rooms.

Marion Newman gave two interesting piano selections which were followed by a talk given by County Attorney Walter F. Wieland.

Mr. Wieland, a favorite with any audience, was ushered in with much applause and with "Conservation" as his topic outlined the growth and success of the Crow Wing County Garden and Flower society and told of the beautiful exhibits it has had in the past, and stressed the importance of the growth, cultivation and propagation of plants and flowers in a city. Besides beautifying a city, attracting the welcome attention and favorable comments of tourists, the raising of flowers aids man in his spiritual uplift, satisfies his love of beauty and enriches his life to a great extent. He expressed gratitude over the fact that conservation is now being taught in the schools and that the conservation and cultivation of flowers and plants is just as important as the conservation of fish and game.

Little Marcela Holm made a very favorable impression with the audience when she sang a solo "Sweet and Low" and responded with an encore "Home, Home, How Can I Forget Thee." She has remarkable voice for being such a small Miss, her voice carrying clearly and distinctly, her expression being excellent in her interpretation of the compositions. She was ably accompanied by Miss Thelma Reis.

Dr. G. L. Badeaux accompanied by Miss Mildred Skauge on the piano and Miss Effie Drexler and Olaf Ness on violins, sang "Love's Old Sweet Song" and responded to the demands of the audience with an encore. The artists pleased all with their beautiful rendition of the selections.

Much interest and curiosity was manifested over the saw solo given by Charles Miller who was accompanied by Mrs. Miller on the piano. Mr. Miller plays like a professional and responded to an encore.

The John M. Bye silver loving cup was displayed and it was explained that the cup will be given to the grade school that wins the inter-grade basketball tournament and will remain in the permanent possession of the school that succeeds in winning it twice. It was decided to purchase letters for the boys on the Lincoln team to stimulate interest in the sport.

It was reported that the Misses Lager's and Christensen's rooms had succeeded in tying for first place in the contest for the most magazines and each will be duly rewarded with a prize. The association received $23.50 from the sale of the magazines that the children gathered, 4,710 pounds being the total weight.

George Falconer, secretary of the Harrison P. T. A. sent greetings from that association and committees and plans were made for the indoor circus which will be given at the Lincoln school, February 5.

It was voted to send a letter to the Board of Education thanking them for the fence that has been put up along Sixth street for safety purposes.

The meeting was interesting throughout and after a delicious lunch "Dads' Night" was proclaimed a complete success.

TO CHEER TIRED BUSINESS MEN

Board of League of Women Voters to Hold Card Party Saturday Evening

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ROOMS

Will be Opportunity for Social Diversion and Chance to Forget Troubles

At a meeting of the Board of Women Voters on Saturday afternoon, it was decided to hold a card party at the Chamber of Commerce parlors on Saturday evening, January 15, after the stores have closed. It was thought that many "tired business men" would appreciate an opportunity for social diversion and a chance to forget their troubles after a strenuous day at store or office.

The same plan will be followed as the one used so successfully by the ladies of the Legion Auxiliary. Any one wishing to fill one or two tables may do so by providing table, score cards and dishes. The good eats will be provided by League women and served by the social committee of the League of Women Voters. This committee consists of Mesdames Rose Parker, Clyde E. Parker, Ernest Butler, R. A. Chase and Fred Swanson. Just call one of these ladies and tell her how many tables you wish reserved, and pay some of your social obligations this way.

The proceeds from this party will be used to bring a good speaker to Brainerd. Miss Wells, the state president, cannot come at this time, but she has asked Mrs. McGuire, of St. Paul, to substitute. Mrs. McGuire is one of the three vice presidents, the other two being Mrs. F. W. Vittich and Mrs. Sumner McKnight, both of whom have been heard in Brainerd.

Mrs. McGuire was one of the speakers at the last national convention, and has also been in demand as a speaker for state conventions, having recently addressed the South Dakota League. She has such a quaint sense of humor that members of the state board always get ready to laugh whenever Mrs. McGuire asks for the floor. But her wit always has a point, and she always has something worthwhile to say.

CONCERTS APPEAL TO AUDIENCES

Presented Saturday and Sunday Under Auspices of Brainerd Musical Club

MANY MEMBERS ATTEND

Concerts Given by Mr. and Mrs. Lester Were Varied Enough to Appeal

The two concerts on Saturday and Sunday were varied enough in their appeal to interest the many members of the Musical club who came to hear them. The disappointment over some of the numbers given at the first concert was more than compensated for by the very real pleasure in the second. Due to the difficulty in getting acquainted with a strange organ of different size than the ones he was used to, Mr. Lester did not get his audience in his first selections, but as he warmed to the instrument, the numbers were given with a feeling and appreciation that pleased everyone. The Handel concerto and the selections of his own composing were beautifully given. On Sunday he was requested to substitute an organ selection for one group of piano solos, and in that playing won his audience so that tumultuous applause made an encore imperative.

His piano work on Sunday, in both the solo and accompanist selections was of high merit and much enjoyed. He accompanied with an appreciation of the songs that added much to Mrs. Lester's singing and his piano solos were given with a command of the instrument and a technique that made them a very fine addition to the solo work of his wife.

Mrs. Lester, who on Saturday had had no time to get rested from the long journey from Chicago, gave the Messiah, on Sunday showed her wide range of voice, truthfulness of tone and thorough musicianship in the many songs she sang. The church reverberated to her tones when she sang with full power, and whispered to the lilting melodies of the lighter songs. When so many are given, it is hard to single out any for special mention, but suffice it to say that the hope of the Lesters that they might some day return to Brainerd, was a sincere belief that the audience on Sunday afternoon reacted to their songs and playing with such appreciation that they enjoyed their own work.

Mrs. Whitney announced the work of the Welfare committee in very generous gifts at Christmas due to the kindness of the members who donated enough so that a large box of jellies and jams was sent to the Deerwood Sanitarium, and a number

Trial Before Judge Stanton Set for Feb. 8; Charged With Maintaining Nuisance

ACTION TAKEN YESTERDAY

Affidavit of Prejudice Filed Against Special Judge J. M. Hayes

Following the filing of a special affidavit of prejudice by Attorney Basil T. Heath on behalf of his client Carl Bowerman charged with maintaining a nuisance, against Special Judge J. M. Hayes, alleging prejudice and bias on the part of the special judge, an order was obtained by Attorney Heath from Judge W. S. McClenahan, restraining Special Judge Hayes and the police department from issuing commitment papers or holding the defendant in custody until February 8 when the matter is to be heard before Judge C. W. Stanton at Bemidji.

The history of the case follows: Carl Bowerman was arraigned on January 3 in the municipal court on the charge of maintaining a nuisance. He entered a plea of not guilty through his attorney Basil T. Heath, and the case was then continued until January 11 at 2 p. m.

Affidavit of prejudice was filed by Attorney Basil T. Heath against Special Judge J. M. Hayes alleging prejudice and bias on the part of the special judge.

The case was called at 2 p. m. yesterday, special appearance made by Basil T. Heath, objecting to all proceedings on the grounds of the filing of the affidavit of prejudice also moving dismissal of the case on the same grounds.

The motion was denied and prosecution presented their evidence through the following witnesses: Fred J. Reid, ex-sheriff; Theodore Nesheim, ex-deputy sheriff; George Rardin, and Chief of Police Templeton.

Bowerman was not present in court. The court found Bowerman guilty, sentenced him to pay a fine of $100 or in default 90 days in jail.

An order was then obtained by Basil T. Heath from Judge of the District Court W. S. McClenahan restraining Special Judge J. M. Hayes and the police department from issuing commitment papers or holding the defendant in custody until February 8 when the matter is to be heard before Judge C. W. Stanton at Bemidji.

WHY CHANGE?
A friend of ours complains that the coal he gets nowadays isn't what it used to be or what it should be for the cost. We are reminded of the story of an inventor who went to a coal dealer and said: "I have here something that you'll want, something new—a substitute coal that you can sell at half price."
"Shucks!" returned the coal man. "Haven't we got one already that we sell at full price?"—Transcript.

REJECTED

Made Some Progress

Possibly it may be true, as some one has said, that the wickedness of today is more spectacular than the wickedness of other years, which would lead to the impression there is more of it. Anybody who has lived half a century can remember that sin used to do a lot of sneaking.—Toledo Blade.

Tillie—What kind of a boy is Jimmy?
Tessie—Oh, he called and talked about the weather all evening, and when he went home he took dad's umbrella.

Modernized

Her Mother—Betty, how would you like a new doll? One that says "mamma" when she's squeezed?

WHY CHANGE?

A friend of ours complains that the coal he gets nowadays isn't what it used to be or what it should be for the cost. We are reminded of the story of an inventor who went to a coal dealer and said: "I have here something that you'll want, something new—a substitute coal that you can sell at half price."

"Shucks!" returned the coal man, "Haven't we got one already that we sell at full price?"—Transcript.

REJECTED

Edward—Could we marry on my salary?
Mary—Just about, but I'd want to eat the next day.

Looking Forward

Irate Papa—What! You want to marry my daughter—why, you don't make enough to pay the rent!
Dumbissimo—Well, Eloise and I hadn't expected you to charge us any rent.

He Was It

"Do you think it's true that every man has his price?" asked the heiress.
"I'm sure I don't know," he answered, thoughtfully; "but if you want a bargain, you needn't look any farther."

For Doggie's Sake

"And her mean husband thinks she's extravagant!"
"Why?"
"Just because she insists on having Fido's monogram stamped on his dog biscuits!"

Made Some Progress

Possibly it may be true, as some one has said, that the wickedness of today is more spectacular than the wickedness of other years, which would lead to the impression there is more of it. Anybody who has lived half a century can remember that sin used to do a lot of sneaking.—Toledo Blade.

We Are

If life is what we make it, some of us ought to be ashamed of our handiwork.—Boston Transcript.

SUFFICIENT FOR HIM

"Son! You left this office early yesterday. How was it you said nothing to me?"
"I said good-by, sir!"

Contagious

Mrs. Greene—The professor's wife is almost as absent-minded as he is.
Mrs. Blue—What did she do?
Mrs. Greene—Built a fire in the bureau and put her stockings in the stove.

Human Nature

"What would you do if you had a million dollars, Jim?"
"Oh, I suppose I'd spend most of the time comparing myself with some one who had a billion and was feeling discontented."

That Kind

Tillie—What kind of a boy is Jimmy?
Tessie—Oh, he called and talked about the weather all evening, and when he went home he took dad's umbrella.

Modernized

Her Mother—Betty, how would you like a new doll? One that says "mamama" when she's squeezed?
Betty—I want one that says "be yourself, big boy."

Exactly

Mrs. Wiggs—The postman just brought you a letter with two cents' postage due on it.
Wiggs—For two cents I'll tell that fellow what I think of him.

Between Sportsmen

"Any luck today?"
"Two rabbits, nine geese, a turkey and four ducks."
"All with one gun?"
"No, with one motor car."

Indian "Manitous"

"Manitou" is a name given by American Indians to any spirit or supernatural being, good or evil. It was common among western and Mississippi tribes, and was applied to any object used as a fetish or an amulet.

Old Mohammedan Tomb

The tomb of Rajah Baginda, first Mohammedan missionary to arrive in the Sulu archipelago, and father-in-law of the first sultan of Sulu, has been discovered on the mountain of Bud Datu, Sulu.

Wrens Hatch Two Broods

In building bird houses for wrens it is better to build a double house. As soon as one brood is hatched the pair of wrens start building another nest before the first brood is able to fly. Consequently they need the extra space for their home.

Coughs Stopped Almost Instantly

A famous physician's prescription called Thoxine relieves the most stubborn coughs that otherwise would hang on for weeks. Acts on new theory, relieves the inflammation and irritation which is almost always the cause of the cough, and stops it like magic. Thoxine is equally good for sore throat for which purpose it is far superior to gargles. Contains no dope, chloroform or harmful drugs. Once used you will never be without it. Pleasant taste and safe for children. Remember one swallow stops night coughs or sore throat within 15 minutes or money back. 35c, 60c and $1.00. Sold by Skauge Drug Co. and all good drug stores.—Advt
